DU PONT STOCK ROW NEAR A SETTLEMENT SHIP WORK STRIKE Court Directs Shareholders to Decide on Purchase.

Wilmingron, Del., Aug. 17.—Judge G. Whitaker Thompson of the United States District Court to-day signed a formal decree directing that the stockholders of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. decide for themselves whether they want to acquire the T. Coleman du Pont stock, which has been a subject of litigation in the Federal Court for more than a year. The court found that the stockholders had never formally refused to make this purchase and that Pierre S. du Pont and his associates, who bought the stock for themselves after the company's directors had refused to make the purchase, had not kept faith as officers of the company.

The decree appoints Daniel O. Hastcourt also entered an order allowing the man du Pont stock over to the company without a stockholders' meeting.
